ASH MEADOWS FARM IS SOLD FOR BIG SUM

A. K. Ishmael, who recently sold 200 acres of land at Ash Meadows to F. H. Hagauma, a Japanese, for a consideration of $17,800, takes exception to the report that the section in question will be invaded by Japanese who will work a hardship upon owners of land in that locality. Mr. Ishmael says that the land at Ash Meadows is not adaptable to farming or cattle raising, but that certain portions, including the 200 acres he sold, will grow splendid vegetables. He says that the new owner had samples of the earth analyzed and that after being convinced that it was only adaptable to vegetables he made the purchase with a view to supplying southern Nevada people with his crops. He contemplates, however, in due course of events to cultivate enough asparagus to keep a small cannery operating a certain period of the year.

"There is no danger of Ash Meadows being invaded by a colony of Japs," remarked Mr. Ishmael this morning. The history of the section is that no white man ever made a success of farming or cattle growing. The section was first invaded by white men in 1858, while 10 years later the Mormons settled there. In 1872 a man named Watkins went in, and he came nearer making a go of it than any one else. The land is too wet and contains too much alkali to grow alfalfa and other farm crops, but certain sections are adaptable to vegetables."

OPERATIONS AT M'NAMARA SAID SATISFACTORY

There has been no material change in conditions at the MacNamara mine and mill since the report was issued last week. Three sets of leasers continue operations with fairly good results above the 300-foot level of the shaft workings, and a fair tonnage of mill ore is being produced.

The mill is operating steadily, but the capacity of the machinery is not taxed, and a considerable additional tonnage could be handled. With the advent of spring and with the resumption of work on outside properties, heavy shipments are almost assured, which will bring a flow of ore to the bins, thus insuring the milling plant being operated to extreme capacity.

With shipments started by leasers from the Royston and Klondyke districts, the greater part of the product will most likely be consigned to the MacNamara mill. During the past week two consignments of ore were received from the original Klondyke mine and the values were in keeping with that received from previous shipments.

ODDIE SEEKS FUNDS FOR ASSAY OFFICE

Increased to the salary of assayer-in-charge of the Carson City federal assay office to $2100, and that of the assistant assayer to $1500, for workmen and other employees to $900, and for incidental and contingent expenses to $900, have been proposed by Senator T. L. Oddie in an amendment to the house resolution making appropriations.

In a letter to Senator F. E. Warren, chairman of the senate committee on appropriation, Senator Oddie gives a comparison of the amount of business done at the assay offices at Carson City and Deadwood, South Dakota, in which he shows the amount of business at Carson to be greater than that of the middle west office, while the house appropriation for the latter exceeds that for the local office by $1000.

Two Goldfield men, John Slavin and Tom Rea, have become interested in the Arkansas diamond belt, according to Rea. Slavin left here about 90 days ago on instructions from Omaha interests to go to Arkansas and acquire ground in the diamond belt. He returned to Goldfield yesterday with a share in the ownership of the ground he acquired for the Omaha men. Rea and Slavin are partners in their various deals. Slavin is enthusiastic regarding the Arkansas diamond field and is confident that he and his partner are due to make a big roll of money as a result of his trip.

AMUSEMENTS

ELSIE FERGUSON AT THE BUTLER TODAY

The Paramount picturization of Rita Weiman's story, "Footlights," starring Elsie Ferguson, which comes to the Butler today, is unique in every detail. It tells of Lizzie Parsons, a New England girl, who becomes a vaudeville entertainer and impersonator. She attracts the attention of Oswald Kane, a theatrical manager, who resolves to introduce her on the New York stage as a Russian actress. Lizzie signs a contract which states that for 10 years she is to be under his management and in that time not to reveal her identity.

Lisa Parsonova, as Lizzie is now known, makes her debut with great success. Brett Page, a rich New Yorker, falls in love with her. There is something about his big American manner that makes her hate the life she is living. She thinks Randolph is in love with the temperamental actress rather than her true self. Then follow developments of an interesting nature. Added to the program, the latest Pathe News.

BURNS BOUND OVER TO DISTRICT COURT

Deciding that he would rather be tried in the district court than to have a preliminary examination, John C. Burns made a waiver yesterday afternoon before Judge Cuddy and was held over in $500 bonds. Burns is charged with violating the state prohibition law by being illegally in the possession of a gallon of whiskey.
